

Naloxone Can Reverse an Opioid Overdose and Save a Life

Opioids are a type of medication that can slow or stop your breathing. An opioid overdose happens when someone takes more opioids than their body can safely handle. When you administer NARCAN® nasal spray, it puts a medication called naloxone into the person's nose. NARCAN nasal spray can stop an opioid overdose and restore breathing when it is given right away.

It is safe and easy to use on adults and children.
